THEORETICAL AND APPLIED LINGUISTICS

Theoretical and Applied Linguistics is a graduate (master's) program to take if you are interested in becoming a researcher, lecturer or a specialist in the field of theoretical and applied linguistics.

No matter what language you've come or plan to study – this program is a great way to start an academic career. Program language is Russian.

PROGRAM

The program allows flexible and proper multidisciplinary approach to tailor your educational experience. It comprises of five compulsory modules:

- Methodological (methodology, philosophy, IT, projects etc)
- Communicative (academic English, communication studies etc)
- Pedagogical (teaching practice, language policy, text interpretation etc)
- Academic (research and internship etc)
- Elective module (free choice, suggested: sociolinguistics, discourse theory etc)

For the elective module it is possible to take courses from NEFU and other institutions and universities.

"Being inspired by snow and cold weather, I entered NEFU. Lecturers made the impression of a caring family, kind and amiable. Groupmates are very active, enthusiastic and kind, and I'm so glad I joined such a good supportive group. Majority of disciplines are very hard, but also very interesting. Looking forward to study for 2 years in Yakutsk."
